RE: Presentation at the “Ability Works” inclusive activity program

On March 16, 2022, we welcomed Leona Logan and her witty sidekick, Hildegard, to our “Ability Works” activity program which consists of individuals with varying levels of physical and/or intellectual disabilities. The program is free to public and offers activities for participants to enhance their independence, learn to advocate, get involved in recreational opportunities (both indoor and in the community), and enjoy social situations with others through conversation and lunch.

Leona was a blessing to work with from start to finish. She worked flawlessly with our Activity Program Coordinator, Brian Woy, to iron out the details of what the conversation should consist of for the specific demographic of people in attendance as well as keeping in touch leading up to the event to ensure everything will run smoothly. Leona and Hildegard made our group feel supported and empowered to speak up about their feelings, needs, and thoughts. This element of relatability and safety to speak your mind delivered a massive benefit to our program and those we serve; individuals who often feel their voice does not matter.

We are so grateful to Leona for her participation in our program and offering us with such an interesting look into the world of public speaking, ventriloquism, and the power of interactive conversation. The “Ability Works” participants were thrilled to have her, and our organization is beyond appreciative to welcome presenters, like Leona, who understand and foster the importance of being together in meaningful, fun, and practical ways.

We highly recommend Leona Logan as a presenter, speaker, and facilitator for any group looking to create experiences for growth, humor, empowerment, and support.

Best Regards,
